

ATTENDANCE POLICY

Comprehensive HR Policy Document

Human Resources Department
Version 1.0 | Effective from January 1, 2025
Classification: Internal Use Only

POLICY OVERVIEW
This Attendance Policy establishes the framework and expectations for employee attendance, punctuality, and time management across the organization. It applies to all full-time, part-time, contractual, and probationary employees across all departments and locations. Adherence to this policy ensures operational efficiency, fairness, and a productive work environment for everyone.

1. PURPOSE AND SCOPE

1.1 Purpose

This Attendance Policy is designed to define the expectations, obligations, and entitlements of employees with respect to attendance, punctuality, working hours, late arrivals, overtime, and remote work. The purpose is to ensure that:

- Business operations run smoothly and customers/clients receive consistent, high-quality service.
- All employees are treated equitably and consistently regardless of department, seniority, or gender.
- Managers have clear guidelines to monitor, record, and act upon attendance-related matters.
- Employees are aware of the consequences of consistent absenteeism, habitual late arrival, or misuse of working hours.
- The organization remains compliant with applicable labor laws, employment regulations, and statutory requirements.

1.2 Scope and Applicability

This policy applies to:

- All permanent full-time employees
- Part-time and flexi-time employees (with appropriate pro-rated application)
- Employees on probation
- Trainees and apprentices
- Contractual staff (unless otherwise stipulated in their contract)

Certain provisions of this policy, such as office timing, may differ based on gender as specified herein, in accordance with applicable statutory provisions and organizational welfare commitments. Any exception must be approved in writing by the HR Department.

1.3 Policy Ownership and Review

This policy is owned by the Human Resources Department and is reviewed annually or as required by changes in law, business operations, or organizational structure. The latest version of this policy supersedes all prior versions and verbal instructions.

2. OFFICE TIMING

2.1 Standard Working Hours

The standard working hours for all employees are set to ensure productivity while balancing employee well-being and statutory mandates. Working hours are defined per gender as follows:

Employee Category	Standard Working Hours
Male Employees	9:00 AM – 6:00 PM (Monday to Saturday)
Female Employees	9:00 AM – 5:00 PM (Monday to Saturday)
Part-Time Employees	As specified in individual employment letter
Trainees / Interns	9:00 AM – 5:00 PM (Monday to Friday)

Total working hours per day (excluding breaks):

- Male Employees: 9 hours (inclusive of a 1-hour lunch break = 8 effective working hours)
- Female Employees: 8 hours (inclusive of a 1-hour lunch break = 7 effective working hours)

NOTE: The differentiated timing for female employees is in compliance with applicable labor law provisions and organizational welfare commitments ensuring safe and convenient commuting. This is not a reflection of performance expectation but a statutory and welfare measure.

2.2 Lunch Break and Rest Intervals

Employees are entitled to the following breaks during the workday:

Break Type	Duration / Timing
Lunch Break	1:00 PM – 2:00 PM (1 hour) — Mandatory
Tea/Refreshment Break (Morning)	11:00 AM – 11:15 AM (15 minutes)
Tea/Refreshment Break (Evening)	4:00 PM – 4:15 PM (15 minutes) — Male employees
Personal/Bio Break	As required (not counted toward break time)

Employees are expected to return to their workstations promptly after the break period. Excessive or prolonged breaks that impact work output will be addressed as an attendance concern.

Real-World Example: Break Compliance

Ravi (male employee) takes a 30-minute extended lunch on multiple occasions. His manager documents this and includes it in his attendance review. After the first warning, further extended breaks may be treated as unauthorized absence. Priya (female employee) leaves at 5:00 PM sharp each day which is her entitled time. She is not penalized for not staying until 6:00 PM.

2.3 Weekly Work Schedule

The standard work week is Monday through Saturday. Sundays are designated as the weekly day of rest. However:

- If business requirements necessitate working on a Sunday, compensatory off (comp-off) will be granted as per the Compensatory Leave Policy.
- Public holidays falling on weekdays are governed by the Holiday Schedule published at the beginning of each calendar year.
- National holidays (Republic Day, Independence Day, Gandhi Jayanti) are mandatorily observed.

Real-World Example: Weekly Schedule

The sales team is required to work on a Sunday during the year-end closing period. The manager seeks prior approval from HR, and all participating employees are credited with a comp-off to be utilized within 30 days. Sanjay, who works on that Sunday, applies for comp-off the following Friday using the HR portal.

2.4 Shift-Based Work (Where Applicable)

In departments where shift-based operations are required (e.g., customer support, IT operations), the following provisions apply:

- Shift schedules will be communicated at least 7 days in advance.
- Shift timings may vary: Morning Shift (6 AM – 2 PM), Afternoon Shift (2 PM – 10 PM), Night Shift (10 PM – 6 AM).
- Night shift employees receive a Night Shift Allowance as per HR Compensation Guidelines.
- Female employees will not be compelled to work night shifts without explicit written consent and the provision of transportation support.
- Shift swaps require prior manager approval and HR notification at least 48 hours in advance.

NOTE: Any shift change made without proper approval will be treated as an unauthorized deviation from duty and may result in disciplinary action.

3. ATTENDANCE RECORDING AND MONITORING

3.1 Attendance System

All employees are required to mark their attendance accurately using the organization's official attendance system. The following methods are currently in use:

- Biometric fingerprint scanner at office entry/exit points
- RFID access card swipe system (where biometric is unavailable)
- HR Management System (HRMS) portal — for remote work attendance
- Manager-initiated attendance for field staff or off-site employees

Attendance records are automatically synced with the HRMS and are accessible to:

- The employee (self-view only)
- Immediate manager / reporting authority
- HR Department
- Department Head

3.2 Attendance Records and Privacy

Attendance data is confidential and is used solely for the purposes of payroll processing, performance evaluation, compliance reporting, and HR administration. Unauthorized access to or sharing of another employee's attendance records is a disciplinary offense.

Real-World Example: Attendance Recording

Neha forgets to swipe her card while entering the office on Monday morning. She realizes this at 10:00 AM and immediately notifies her supervisor, who submits a manual attendance correction request through the HRMS portal within 24 hours. HR reviews and approves the correction. This is noted as an oversight and tracked; repeated occurrences may result in attendance being marked as absent.

3.3 Attendance Registers for Field Staff

Employees working in the field, on client sites, or traveling for official work must:

- Log attendance via the mobile HRMS app using geo-tagged check-in/check-out.
- Ensure their reporting manager confirms field duty on the HRMS portal.
- Submit a Daily Work Report (DWR) for each day of field activity.

3.4 Monthly Attendance Reports

The HR Department will publish monthly attendance summaries for each department. Department heads are responsible for reviewing reports and addressing habitual absenteeism within their teams. Reports are used for:

- Monthly payroll computation
- Leave balance reconciliation
- Half-yearly and annual performance review input
- Identifying trends of absenteeism for early intervention

4. LATE ARRIVAL RULES

4.1 Definition of Late Arrival

An employee is considered to have arrived late if they report to the workplace after their designated shift start time. In the context of standard working hours:

Employee Type	Late Arrival Defined As
Male Employees	Arriving after 9:00 AM
Female Employees	Arriving after 9:00 AM
Shift Employees	Arriving after the designated shift start time

4.2 Grace Period

A grace period of 15 minutes is provided to accommodate unforeseen minor delays such as traffic congestion or public transport delays.

Category	Grace Period
All Employees (Standard Schedule)	15 minutes — i.e., up to 9:15 AM
Shift Employees	10 minutes from shift start time
Field Staff	30 minutes with prior intimation to manager

NOTE: The grace period is a goodwill provision and not an entitlement. Habitual use of the grace period (more than 4 times in a month) will be reviewed and may result in formal warning.

4.3 Late Mark Threshold and Consequences

Late arrivals are categorized and consequenced as follows:

Late Arrival Count (in a Calendar Month)	Consequence
1 – 2 times (beyond grace period)	Verbal reminder from manager — no deduction
3 times	1st Written Warning issued; noted in personal file
4 times	Half-day deducted from Casual Leave or Salary
5 – 6 times	Full-day Casual Leave deducted; 2nd Written Warning

7+ times

Formal disciplinary action; potential
Salary deductionReal-World Example: Late Arrival Consequences

Arjun arrives at 9:25 AM on 5 different days in a single month. On the 3rd late day, his manager issues a written warning. On the 4th late arrival, HR deducts a half day from his casual leave. By the 5th occurrence, a full-day casual leave is deducted and a second written warning is placed in his personal file. His supervisor schedules a one-on-one meeting to understand the root cause and offer a resolution.

4.4 Habitual Late Arrival — Progressive Discipline

If an employee continues to arrive late despite warnings and deductions, the following progressive disciplinary steps apply:

1. First Instance (3+ lates in a month): Verbal warning and documented note in HRMS.
2. Second Instance (recurring in following month): Written warning with HR copy.
3. Third Instance: Mandatory counseling session with HR; performance improvement plan initiated.
4. Fourth Instance: Escalation to Department Head; formal disciplinary proceedings may be initiated.
5. Continued Violation: Termination of employment may be considered in extreme cases of habitual disregard.

4.5 Notification Requirement for Late Arrival

If an employee anticipates arriving late, they must:

- Notify their immediate supervisor/manager via phone call, SMS, or HRMS portal before 9:00 AM.
- State the expected time of arrival.
- Obtain acknowledgment from the manager.

Failure to notify in advance will be treated as an unexcused late arrival and weighted more heavily in disciplinary considerations.

Real-World Example: Notification of Late Arrival

Meena's train is delayed and she knows she will arrive at 9:45 AM. She calls her manager at 8:50 AM to inform him and follows up with an HRMS notification. This is an excused late arrival. Her manager notes it as notified. However, if she arrives late again the following week without informing, it will be treated as unexcused.

4.6 Early Departure

Similarly, early departure (leaving before the designated end time without prior approval) is treated on par with late arrival:

- All early departures require prior written approval from the reporting manager.
- Unapproved early departures are equivalent to late arrivals in terms of consequences.
- Emergency early departures must be followed up with written communication to HR and the manager within 24 hours.

5. ABSENTEEISM POLICY

5.1 Definition of Absence

An employee is considered absent when they do not report for duty on a scheduled workday without prior approval or valid notification. Absences are classified as:

- Authorised Absence: Pre-approved leaves, medical emergencies with documentation, bereavement, etc.
- Unauthorised Absence: Not informing HR/manager, failing to apply for leave, not providing documentation.

5.2 Reporting an Absence

If an employee is unable to attend work, they must follow this notification protocol:

6. Inform their reporting manager via phone or text message before 9:00 AM on the day of absence.
7. Apply for leave through the HRMS portal on the same day or the next working day.
8. Provide supporting documentation (e.g., medical certificate) within 3 working days of return.
9. For absences exceeding 3 consecutive days, a medical certificate is mandatory.

Absence Duration	Documentation Required
1 day	No documentation required (first 2 occasions per quarter)
2 – 3 days	Verbal or written communication; self-declaration
4+ consecutive days	Medical certificate from a registered physician
Hospitalisation / Surgery	Discharge summary, doctor's certificate, and HR intimation

5.3 Unauthorized Absence Consequences

Unauthorized absences are treated seriously and have the following consequences:

- Salary deduction for each day of unauthorized absence.
- No unauthorized absence is converted to any type of paid leave.
- Three consecutive days of unauthorized absence without communication may be treated as voluntary abandonment and may result in termination of employment.
- HR will send a formal notice within 24 hours of a third consecutive unauthorized absence.

Real-World Example: Unauthorized Absence

Dinesh does not come to work on Monday and Tuesday without informing anyone. He also does not apply for leave on the portal. His manager escalates to HR on Tuesday afternoon. HR sends a written notice to Dinesh. Dinesh responds on Wednesday stating he was unwell. However, since he didn't follow proper notification, both days are marked as unauthorized absence, resulting in salary deduction for those 2 days. He is also issued a written warning.

5.4 Habitual Absenteeism

Habitual absenteeism is defined as being absent for 10% or more of working days in a rolling 90-day period. This triggers a formal HR review:

10. HR schedules a meeting with the employee and their manager to understand patterns and causes.
11. A Return-to-Work plan or Performance Improvement Plan (PIP) may be initiated.
12. Counseling or occupational health referral may be arranged with the employee's consent.
13. If absenteeism continues without valid reason, disciplinary action will be taken up to and including termination.

6. OVERTIME POLICY

6.1 Definition of Overtime

Overtime refers to any work performed by an employee beyond their standard working hours as defined in Section 2. Overtime must always be pre-authorized and is not assumed or volunteered unilaterally.

6.2 Eligibility for Overtime

Not all employees are eligible for overtime pay. The following classification applies:

Employee Category	Overtime Eligibility
Workmen / Factory Grade Employees	Eligible for overtime pay as per Factories Act
Non-Exempt Office Staff (Grade A–C)	Eligible for overtime or compensatory off
Supervisory / Managerial Staff (Grade D+)	Generally not eligible for overtime pay; may receive comp-off
Senior Management / Executives	Not eligible for overtime; role includes flexible hours

6.3 Overtime Authorization Process

For overtime to be valid and compensable:

14. The department head must submit an Overtime Request Form (ORF) to HR at least 24 hours in advance.
15. HR approves based on business justification, budget availability, and compliance with labor law.
16. Employees are informed and must confirm availability (overtime cannot be mandated for female employees after 8:00 PM without transportation support and explicit consent).
17. All overtime hours are recorded in the HRMS.

NOTE: Overtime that has not been pre-approved will not be compensated unless an emergency situation is documented and approved post-facto by the Department Head and HR within 48 hours.

6.4 Overtime Compensation Rates

For eligible employees, overtime is compensated at the following rates:

Day/Time Category	Overtime Rate
-------------------	---------------

Weekday overtime (beyond standard hours)	1.5x the basic hourly rate
Saturday (if not part of standard week)	1.5x the basic hourly rate
Sunday / Weekly Off	2x the basic hourly rate
National Holidays	2x the basic hourly rate + Compensatory Off

Real-World Example: Overtime Calculation

Ramesh (Grade B employee) works 3 extra hours on a weekday (beyond 6:00 PM) due to month-end financial reporting. His basic hourly rate is Rs. 150. His overtime for that day = 3 hours x Rs. 150 x 1.5 = Rs. 675. This is credited to his salary for the month. However, if his manager hadn't submitted an ORF, Ramesh would not be eligible for this compensation.

6.5 Compensatory Off (Comp-Off) as Overtime Alternative

Where overtime pay is not applicable (for managerial staff), compensatory off is granted:

- 1 comp-off day for every 8 hours of overtime worked on a regular working day.
- 1 comp-off day for working on a Sunday or public holiday (regardless of hours worked that day).
- Comp-off must be availed within 60 days of accrual or it lapses; it cannot be encashed.
- Comp-off leave is applied and tracked via HRMS under the 'Comp-Off' leave type.

Real-World Example: Comp-Off for Manager

Simran (Senior Manager) works on a national holiday to oversee a product launch. Since she is Grade D, she is not eligible for overtime pay. Instead, HR credits her 1 comp-off day in the HRMS. She applies for comp-off the following Monday and spends it with family. If she does not use the comp-off within 60 days, it will automatically expire.

6.6 Maximum Overtime Limits

To protect employee health and comply with labor regulations:

- No employee may work more than 2 hours of overtime per day.
- Total overtime in a month may not exceed 50 hours (as per applicable Factories Act provisions).
- Any request exceeding these limits must receive written clearance from HR Head and Legal.
- Employees who consistently work overtime may be flagged for workload review and team restructuring.

7. REMOTE WORK POLICY

7.1 Introduction and Philosophy

Remote work (also known as Work-From-Home or WFH) is a flexible work arrangement that allows eligible employees to perform their duties from a location other than the official workplace. This policy governs the terms, conditions, and expectations for remote work, ensuring that productivity and accountability are maintained.

7.2 Eligibility for Remote Work

Not all roles are suitable for remote work. Eligibility is determined by:

Criteria	Details
Role Suitability	Roles that do not require physical presence for core functions
Performance Record	Consistent satisfactory performance in the past 6 months
Tenure Requirement	Minimum 6 months of employment with the organization
Infrastructure Readiness	Reliable internet, dedicated workspace, required devices
Manager Approval	Explicit written approval from reporting manager

Roles that are not eligible for remote work include:

- Receptionist / front-desk roles
- Factory or production floor employees
- Security, housekeeping, and facilities staff
- Any role that requires physical access to company equipment, servers, or materials

7.3 Types of Remote Work Arrangements

Type	Description
Ad-hoc / Occasional WFH	Applied for on a case-by-case basis for specific days
Hybrid WFH	Fixed days of remote work per week (e.g., Wednesdays)
Full Remote Work	100% remote; only for pre-approved roles or special circumstances
Emergency WFH	During natural disasters, pandemics, or government restrictions

7.4 Applying for Remote Work

To apply for a remote work day:

18. Submit a WFH request on the HRMS portal at least 24 hours in advance (except emergencies).
19. State the reason for WFH and list planned work deliverables for the day.
20. Await manager approval before considering the arrangement confirmed.
21. On the WFH day, mark attendance on the HRMS at 9:00 AM.
22. Submit an end-of-day work report (EOD Report) by 6:00 PM (male) / 5:00 PM (female).

7.5 Expectations During Remote Work

Employees working remotely are expected to maintain the same level of professionalism and output as in the office:

- Be available on official communication channels (email, Teams/Slack) during working hours.
- Attend all scheduled virtual meetings with camera on unless excused by the meeting organizer.
- Respond to emails and messages within 30 minutes during working hours.
- Maintain confidentiality of all organizational data and use only secure, approved networks.
- Avoid personal errands, household chores, or care responsibilities that disrupt work during working hours.
- Report any technical issues (VPN, laptop, internet) to the IT helpdesk within 30 minutes of occurrence.

NOTE: WFH is a privilege, not a right. Any misuse of remote work (unavailability, poor output, attendance misrepresentation) will result in immediate revocation of remote work privileges.

7.6 Monitoring and Accountability

Remote work productivity is monitored through:

- Daily EOD reports submitted on HRMS
- Task completion tracked via project management tools (Jira, Trello, Asana, etc.)
- Weekly 1:1 check-in calls with the reporting manager
- Monthly remote work performance review

Real-World Example: Remote Work Misuse

Kiran, a software developer, was approved for WFH on Thursday. His manager tried to reach him multiple times between 2:00 PM and 4:00 PM on video call and phone — Kiran was unavailable each time and did not respond to messages. He submitted a brief EOD report that didn't reflect the required output. His manager flagged this to HR. As a consequence, Kiran's WFH privilege was suspended for 60 days and a formal warning was placed on his record.

7.7 Data Security and Confidentiality While Remote

When working remotely, employees must adhere to the IT Security Policy. Key requirements include:

- Use only organization-issued devices for official work wherever possible.
- Connect through the company's approved VPN when accessing internal systems.
- Do not share login credentials with any third party, including family members.
- Do not print or store confidential documents at home unless specifically authorized.
- Report any data breach or security incident to IT immediately.

7.8 Remote Work Infrastructure Support

The organization will provide the following support for approved remote work employees:

- Laptop or desktop (on loan basis, governed by the IT Asset Policy)
- VPN access credentials
- Access to required software and collaboration tools
- A one-time internet subsidy of Rs. 500/month for employees on hybrid or full remote arrangements (subject to approval)

Employees are responsible for:

- Their own internet connection stability
- A safe, ergonomic workspace free from distractions
- Safe custody of company equipment

8. ATTENDANCE AND PAYROLL LINKAGE

8.1 How Attendance Affects Salary

The payroll system is directly integrated with the HRMS attendance module. The following principles apply:

- Salary is calculated based on the number of days worked within the payroll period (1st to last day of the month).
- Any unauthorized absence, uninformed leave, or late mark deduction is reflected in the payroll of the same month.
- Deductions are calculated on a per-day basis: (Monthly Gross Salary / Total Working Days) x Days Absent.

Attendance Event	Payroll Impact
Full day present	Full day salary credited
Half-day present (approved)	Half day salary, half day leave deducted
Unauthorized absence	Full day salary deducted; no leave credit
Late arrival (3rd+ in month)	Casual leave deducted or salary deducted
Early departure (unapproved)	Half-day casual leave deducted
Working on holiday (approved)	Overtime pay or comp-off credited

Real-World Example: Payroll Deduction

Suresh has a monthly salary of Rs. 30,000. The month has 26 working days. He is absent for 2 days without authorization. Deduction = $(30,000 / 26) \times 2 = \text{Rs. } 2,307.69$. His net salary for the month will be Rs. 27,692.31 (before other deductions). He also receives a written warning from HR.

8.2 Loss of Pay (LOP)

Loss of Pay (LOP) is applied when:

- The employee has exhausted all eligible leave balances.
- The employee takes leave without any remaining balance and the absence is approved by the manager.
- Unauthorized absences are always subject to LOP regardless of leave balances.

LOP days directly reduce the gross salary for that month and affect leave accruals for the following month.

9. SPECIAL PROVISIONS

9.1 Medical / Health Emergencies

In case of sudden illness, accident, or hospitalization, the employee (or a nominated representative) must notify the manager within 2 hours of the scheduled start time. Upon return:

- Provide a medical certificate from a qualified physician for absences of 3 or more consecutive days.
- The absence is adjusted against Sick Leave balance; if exhausted, Casual Leave is used; if both exhausted, LOP applies.
- In case of major surgery or prolonged illness, a medical leave extension may be applied through HR with supporting documents.

9.2 Bereavement and Personal Emergencies

Employees facing personal tragedies such as the death of an immediate family member are entitled to bereavement leave (covered under the Leave Policy). HR will treat such absences with compassion and flexibility. Employees should:

- Notify HR and manager as soon as reasonably possible.
- Submit applicable leave forms upon return.
- Not face formal disciplinary action solely based on bereavement absence.

9.3 Pregnancy and New Parents

Pregnant employees and new parents have specific protections under this and the Leave Policy:

- Pregnant employees may be permitted flexible timing adjustments with doctor's advice and HR approval.
- Attendance expectations are not reduced, but reasonable accommodations (e.g., remote work, adjusted seating) will be provided.
- Medical appointments during pregnancy do not count as unauthorized absences when pre-approved.

9.4 Attendance During Natural Disasters / Force Majeure

During events such as floods, cyclones, strikes, curfews, or declared public emergencies:

- The organization may declare a Forced Holiday or authorize universal WFH.
- No attendance deduction or disciplinary action will be taken for absence during declared Force Majeure periods.
- Communication from HR via email and official HRMS notifications will confirm such periods.

Real-World Example: Cyclone Warning

The government issues a cyclone warning and advises against travel. HR sends an official email at 7:00 AM declaring WFH for all employees for the day. Employees who cannot work remotely due to power outages are not penalized. The day is treated as a Special Holiday with no leave deduction.

10. ATTENDANCE IMPROVEMENT AND COUNSELING

10.1 Attendance Improvement Plan (AIP)

If an employee's attendance falls below 85% in a rolling 3-month period (excluding approved leave), HR initiates an Attendance Improvement Plan (AIP):

23. HR and the manager meet with the employee to discuss the attendance pattern.
24. A 90-day monitoring window is established with clear expectations.
25. The employee agrees to specific attendance targets and signs the AIP document.
26. Bi-weekly check-ins are scheduled between the employee and manager.
27. At the end of the AIP period, HR reviews progress. If attendance improves, the AIP is closed. If not, further disciplinary action is taken.

10.2 Employee Assistance Program (EAP)

The organization recognizes that attendance issues may sometimes stem from mental health challenges, substance use, family difficulties, or financial stress. Through the Employee Assistance Program (EAP), employees can access:

- Confidential counseling services (up to 6 sessions per year)
- Financial advisory support
- Legal aid for personal matters
- Referrals to medical specialists

Participation in EAP is strictly voluntary and confidential. Use of EAP services will not be reflected in attendance records or performance reviews.

11. MANAGER RESPONSIBILITIES

11.1 Role of the Manager

Managers play a central role in enforcing this Attendance Policy fairly and consistently. Their responsibilities include:

- Approving or rejecting WFH, leave, and late arrival notifications in a timely manner (within 24 hours).
- Maintaining an attendance log and conducting monthly attendance reviews with team members.
- Issuing verbal and written warnings as outlined in this policy.
- Escalating habitual attendance issues to HR promptly.
- Ensuring their own attendance records are exemplary.
- Not pressuring employees to work beyond their entitled hours without proper compensation.

11.2 Fair and Consistent Application

Managers must apply this policy equally to all team members. Discriminatory application of attendance rules based on favoritism, gender, religion, or personal relationship is a serious violation and may result in disciplinary action against the manager.

Real-World Example: Manager Accountability

Manager Anand consistently overlooks late arrivals for his favorite team member Raj but issues warnings to others for the same behavior. Two team members file a grievance with HR citing unfair treatment. HR investigates, confirms the inconsistency, and issues a formal warning to Anand. He is also required to undergo a Fairness in Management training module.

12. GRIEVANCE AND DISPUTE RESOLUTION

12.1 Raising an Attendance-Related Grievance

If an employee believes their attendance has been incorrectly recorded, unfairly penalized, or that the policy has been applied inconsistently, they may raise a grievance through the following channels:

28. Informal Resolution: Discuss the concern with the immediate manager within 5 working days of the issue.
29. Formal Grievance: If unresolved, submit a written grievance to HR using the Grievance Form on the HRMS portal within 10 working days.
30. HR Review: HR investigates the grievance within 15 working days and communicates a decision.
31. Appeal: If unsatisfied, the employee may appeal to the HR Head within 5 working days of HR's decision.
32. Final Escalation: The HR Head's decision is final and binding within the organization's internal framework.

12.2 Non-Retaliation

No employee will face retaliation, harassment, or adverse employment action for raising a genuine attendance-related grievance. Any such retaliation is itself a disciplinary violation.

13. COMPLIANCE AND AMENDMENTS

13.1 Legal Compliance

This Attendance Policy is designed in accordance with applicable labor laws including but not limited to:

- The Factories Act, 1948 (for factory/production employees)
- The Shops and Establishments Act (state-specific)
- The Minimum Wages Act, 1948
- The Payment of Wages Act, 1936
- The Sexual Harassment of Women at Workplace (Prevention, Prohibition and Redressal) Act, 2013 — relevant to timing protections for female employees
- The Maternity Benefit Act, 1961

13.2 Policy Amendments

This policy may be amended by the HR Department at any time. In the event of amendments:

- Employees will be notified at least 15 days in advance via HRMS and email.
- Training sessions or briefings will be provided for significant changes.
- Employees are required to acknowledge receipt and understanding of the updated policy through HRMS.

13.3 Employee Acknowledgment

All employees are required to sign an Acknowledgment of Attendance Policy upon joining and again whenever the policy is significantly updated. This acknowledgment confirms that:

- The employee has read and understood the policy.
- The employee agrees to abide by the policy.
- The employee is aware of the consequences of non-compliance.
